

Bridging the gap in HCV care: An interactive journey

You are invited to Bridging the gap in HCV care: An interactive journey – an educational masterclass meeting developed by, run by and designed for specialists in HCV care.

The field of HCV is rapidly evolving. The advent of direct-acting antivirals (DAAs) has provided us with many more treatment options than we previously had and management strategies are continually changing. How these changes will translate into clinical practice, and how the evolution of new agents will impact delivery of the most appropriate care to HCV patients is not always clear.

During this one day event you will, together with your peers, discuss some of the most critical challenges for the HCV-treating physician today. Through a series of interactive workshop sessions, with a focus on best-practice sharing and case-based discussions, our expert faculty will examine the latest strategies for the clinical management of HCV and challenge your thinking on how to continue to provide the best level of care.

At the meeting we will discuss various aspects of HCV clinical care including: the evolution of care delivery; appraising the latest findings from pivotal studies; understanding health economics outcomes research data; and the cost-benefit profile of new drugs. There will also be opportunities to review and discuss challenging case studies from your own clinic with our expert faculty.
